Calvin Griffin

PROFILE

My name is Calvin Griffin and I am a new web developer interested in learning as much as I can about this exciting field. I'm originally from Columbus, Ohio, but have been living in Atlanta, Georgia for three years. Web development in my opinion, is not only an incredibly useful skill, but it is also an art. My interest and curiosity led me to begin Georgia Tech's Full Stack Web Development Bootcamp this August, and I will complete the program in November. I am thrilled to learn as much as I can from this intensive course, and to arm myself with the tools necessary to begin this new career.
